Transition Nottingham's Urban Harvest Festival

Sunday 5th October 10-4pm

Green's Windmill, Windmill Lane, Sneinton
Nottingham NG2 4QB

Summary

Transition Nottingham's Urban Harvest Festival has been created for you to celebrate what you have made in your communities, in your back gardens and in your imaginations. For us all to come together in a positive environment to see what we can do for ourselves as the world about us adjusts to unstable climates and unstable economies.

There will be workshops on bread making and foraging, weave your own harvest basket. Stay and have a chat in the information zone and find out how different groups are active in Nottingham, and if you would like to be part of such a vibrant and vital section of Nottingham people. There will be market stalls full of local produce and a barter area for your own garden grown swaps. There will be something for all the family, and you never know who might be dropping in for some tea...
